MONDAY MORNING DEC 15, 1862

A Branch of the Overland Mail.

The gold discoveries, of the last year on the tributaries of Snake river, confirm beyond a doubt the future prosperity of the section of country drained by them. The gold fields already known to exist and to be capable of liberally remunerating labor are sufficient in extent to employ an operative mining population of at least 40,000 men. These gold fields belong to two different ranges or belts of gold bearing country—one on the Eastern, the other on the Western slope of Snake river. The Eastern belt is known to extend from the North Clearwater to Boise river; the Western, from John Day's river to the Malheur. The enterprise of mining adventurers is giving additional proof month by month of the extent and capacity of these placers. Like all great gold ranges, these two belts have valuable lodes of gold bearing quartz, and unlike most other gold ranges, lodes of silver-bearing rock is found along-side of the gold quartz veins. There is now in the counties of Baker and Umatilla, in Oregon, and in the counties of Walla Walla, Idaho, Nez Perces, Shoshone and Spokane in Washington Territory, not less than 20,000 human beings, including those who have interests in the mines, but who will be absent during the Winter. It is reasonable to suppose that not less than 15,000 persons, additional, will be in the districts named next Spring.

During the year 1861, these mines produced about $1,750,000 that has been accounted for, and during the past season the total product of the mines has approached pretty close to $9,000,000, of which about $7,000,000 has been accounted for and the balance has gone into circulation in Oregon or Washington, or is retained in the hands of miners. Since the Spring of 1861, the mining towns of Oro Fino, Elk City, Florence and many smaller communities, have sprung into existence on the eastern gold belt. The extensive districts of Warren's Discovery, Boise, Payette, and the bars of Salmon river on the same range, are proven to be good.—The smallest of these mining towns or camps has connected with them at least 500 men.—The thriving commercial town of Lewiston has been built up, with a population of 600 or 700. The valley of Walla Walla and the contiguous settlements at Wallula on the Touchet, Tukannon and Pataha have more than doubled their population, and taken together, contain considerably over 3,000 people. The Columbia river diggings have also received large additions to their population. In Oregon, the town of Dalles has about doubled its population in the same time, which at present is about 1,500. At the upper end of the Dalles Portage, is the collection of warehouses and shops known as Celilo. The iron railroads around the Cascades and Dalles may be credited to the effects of the gold discoveries. A daily line of steamers from Portland to the Dalles, with a prospect of opposition, have their origin from the gold discoveries. The western gold-belt was discovered last spring. At John Day mines there are about 1,500 men, and at Powder river mines about 3,500. There are new and extensive farming settlements in the Grand Ronde and Powder river valleys. There is a large population of adventurers swarming in the gulches and river canons to the South of Auburn, on Malheur, at Catherine's creek and Mormon Basin.

We have thus glanced at the rapid increase of population up the Columbia, and aggregated facts well known in this country, to give weight to the proposition to establish a branch of the Great Overland Mail from Salt Lake to Dalles, or any other convenient point on the waters of the Columbia. To advance this project, we invite communications from intelligent and reliable sources, as to the different routes on which a mail line may be established. When sufficient information is gathered to prove the feasibility of the project, it will be forwarded to our Senators and Representatives, and the Delegate of Washington Territory, for presentation to the authorities at Washington.

GRIMES CREEK.—A correspondent, writing from Boise mines to the Mountaineer, under date of the 19th of November, gives some facts in relation to the Grimes' Creek mines which we condense. The creek is twelve miles long and its banks are covered with decomposed and broken quartz with a granite bed rock. On the bars, the prospects range from 1 to 15 cents to the pan. This is only on the front of them, so far as ascertained, although there are those who think that they will pay a considerable distance from the creek. There are a great many engaged in rocking on the bars who are making from $4 to $10 per day. In the dry gulches there are many claims paying from $10 to $50 per day to the hand. In some cases $100 a day has been made. Three different parties are digging ditches to these dry gulches. Quartz leads are found in great plenty. Near one of these leads, Mr Clarke, a lawyer of Walla Walla, has taken out as high as one dollar to the pan. The conclusion is, that the quartz in this neighborhood will prove to be rich, and on the quartz lodes and hill diggings the eventual prosperity of the country will depend. A detached piece of quartz, about ten inches in circumference, has been found, which is extremely rich in gold.

Letter from Auburn

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

AUBURN, Nov. [illegible] 1862.

A week has worn off the excitement of the tragedy enacted in hanging Tom [illegible] the greaser, and the town has relapsed again into its regular course of trade. I did not tell you then of the story that was current of the winding up of another greaser existing at the same time as that [illegible] appeared [illegible] but [illegible] I am informed of late [illegible] a very [illegible] that [illegible] friends made his exit about the same time. As the crowd [illegible] was rushing through town dragging Tom to his tree some one fired into the crowd, severely wounding several. On [illegible] it was seen to have been fired by a greaser who had been going about all day quite excitedly. [illegible] with his revolver cocked in his hand. Tom had asked him to shoot him if the mob [illegible] him, and some think he was trying to fulfill the request while others think it was malice. After firing he ran and was pursued over the hills and the report was current that he had been shot down when overtaken. I am inclined to think such was the case and that the body was afterwards secured to avoid investigation, though after all it may not be so.

AN IRISH DECISION.

The next most exciting thing was a squatter difficulty over a town lot. It was a comedy of the richest kind. Some men trying to roll logs up to build a cabin, and another cursing and rolling them back. Each party called names and flourished handspikes. The crowd accumulated and cheered and shouted until the Constable came and commanded the peace. There was then a squatter trial with everybody and his wife for the audience and jury. Orators made speeches and called on Heaven and earth to lend aid to justice. The crowd magnanimously did what it pleased and decided the title of the land to rest in an old Irishman and his wife who had built on one corner of the lot without intending it—a regular Irish ball of course.

BOISE MINES AT A PREMIUM.

During the last few days Indian ponies have risen again. The Boise excitement is so far above a premium that goods, wares, merchandise and folks are hurrying back to get tons of gold [illegible] sure. The very ones who had returned discouraged, are hitting out the second time as hopeful as the most sanguine. In fact they declare the new discoveries are just where they wanted to prospect but their partners wouldn't wait. What a pity! Really as I have said before there are big diggings at Boise. The reports are brightly tinted. One man is going to make $2,000 the first day he rocks next Spring. There it is again! and there is a man in town who will insure any man to find $10 diggings there. I would have expected him to bring back a few days wages, but he didn't. I will tell you more of Boise when I can furnish reliable news.

MINES IN HUMBOLDT BASIN.

Mr. O. Wilson, of Wilson's Exchange, in this place, tells me he weighed a nugget worth over $160 a few days since, that was taken out of Humboldt Basin, or, as it is also called, Mormon Basin.

This is a spot some 30 miles from here, high up in the mountains, where there is little water and little chance to bring it readily, where the prospects are excellent, and the largest chunks are found. The diggings are extensive, and deserve much more attention than they receive. It would be a good idea for the same party who are bringing water into this place to turn their attention thither.

THINGS ABOUT HOME.

There is quite a society here in Auburn. Some 15 young ladies I am told and married ladies in proportion. I am tantalized with all sorts of sounds. I hear calling, fiddling and dancing some evenings as I pass by the Masonic Hall. The other night I was waked by the tones of music, and had the benefit of a serenade, given to a lady whose domicile is perched on the hill side above our cabin, commencing with "Home Again" and "Home, Sweet Home," to wind up with they discoursed "dulcem melody" to the music of a French horn, Trombone and Clarionette. It was excellent in effect, with the Blue Canyon for a sounding gallery. Nice tunes these to play to a man rolled up in his blankets 500 miles from "home."

Provisions are cheap here. flour, $15 to $16 per hundred; miner's stores at every corner, where some wagon is selling out, or where some pack train has stacked its freight.

The weather is cold enough and splendid enough to suit everybody.

Houses are going up every day, and more permanent improvements are projected.

Road companies have incorporated to conduct the travel by the easiest and best routes to this point, and help the interests of the town.

INFORMALLY ELECTED.—Dr. J. B Buker has been informally elected to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Denniston, Representative elect from Nez Perces county, Washington Territory. By the resignation of Mr Denniston, the important district, of which Lewiston is the center, was about to be left without representation. In this emergency, an election was held and Dr Buker was chosen. There is no doubt that he would have been the choice of the county had there been a more animated canvass, although his opponent was a gentleman of much influence. In addition to Dr. Buker's known capacity to represent the interests of Nez Perces county and the confidence of the people in his integrity, his election is of importance, from the fact that he is an uncompromising Union man and represents a community which has been charged as being secession in its opinions. False as the charge doubtless is, his election is a hopeful sign of the predominance of Union sentiments at Lewiston. We hope to see Dr Buker admitted, not more because it will tend to fill up the representation from the upper country than because his admittance will be a merited tribute to the loyalty of those who elected him—who have upheld the old flag when it was dangerous to do so.

STEAM WAGON.—Some inventive person, at Nebraska City has invented a steam wagon, and called it a "Prairie Motor." Great things were expected of it, but on trial it does not answer to the hopes of the inventor or the public. The Rocky Mountain News of the 20th of November, says that it started from Nebraska City for Denver in the 1st of August and by the 1st of November it had proceeded just ten miles on the way. If it takes it ten months to go ten miles, it will require sixteen years and eight months for it to go from Nebraska to Denver.

John R McConnell was the Secession candidate for Governor of California in 1861; he is now for the Union. Better late than never.

By Overland Telegraph.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

We are in receipt of telegraphic news from San Francisco to the 8th inst. It will be seen that two days have elapsed—from the 6th to the 8th—without any telegrams from the east. We may reasonably expect news to the 8th or 9th inst. this evening.

The following has not been published here before:

New York, [illegible] 10th.—The Ocean Queen from Aspinwall, Nov 25th, arrived. She had been a fortnight at Aspinwall [illegible] lasting three days, during which the British brig, Belinda and the steamer [illegible] were wrecked. [illegible] The [illegible] Barnstable [illegible] was abandoned by officers and crew after throwing overboard guns and stores. All communication between Panama and Aspinwall was interrupted—the railroad lying under water, but it was expected that it would be in running order by the 20th, as the water was subsiding.

San Francisco, Dec 8th.—The steamer Golden Age arrived on Saturday night.

[illegible]—The Rocky Mountain News proposes a new application of [illegible] [illegible] The subjoined extract explains it:

Napoleon I had a very effective method of punishing and preventing swindling contracts. The perpetrators of frauds upon the army were summarily shot. It would be subserving the ends of justice not only, but the saving of vast sums of money to the public treasury if two or three striking illustrations of the Napoleonic theory were given by our Government.

FINISHED.—The publication of the laws of the second session of the Thirty Seventh Congress is completed with this issue of the OREGONIAN. No doubt our readers are glad of it and so are we. Hereafter, we will have more space to devote to the publication of interesting news, and we will hope to give both of a character to make this journal of interest to all classes of readers.

The Daily Oregonian.

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

WET WEATHER.—The old American proverb that "Sundays and the Fourth of July are always fair," holds good in every part of the United States, except Oregon. In this country, in winter time, it will rain, anyhow. That is, we call it rain: but it is so different from rain anywhere else. It does not always come down in drops, or in torrents or sheets, nor does it "rain pitchforks." There is no fog; yet it is all the time wet. The roofs are all the time dripping; the water-conduits discharge little streams across the sidewalks; hard ground becomes soft and soft ground becomes slush, and so it goes on "mizzling a little." If the sun ever looks out, it looks more like a Gloria Mundi apple hung in the steam from a tea kettle, than the old Sol whose glancing rays melt us into laziness in summer time. Anything is better than mist; even an honest rain-storm that comes pattering down like a dead march" "voluntary" on a bass-drum.

AFFRAY.—A man named Charles Grundy, who had been in the employ of Mr. O'Connor, of the What Cheer House, until a few days since, was cut on the hand by a Mr. Lyon, yesterday morning. It appears that Grundy had been discharged from the What Cheer House for idleness, but was allowed to remain there until he could find employment elsewhere. He having been guilty of an act of gross indecency, Mr. Lyon attempted to remonstrate with him about it, and an affray ensued, in which Grundy was wounded. No arrest was made, but the case will probably be examined to-day.

WARNING.—If the dashing cavaliers, who bewitch the town with their elegant horsemanship, will manage to restrain their impetuosity, or that of their horses, they will oblige a large number of persons who are compelled to go out on foot. We do not wish to be understood as saying that it is unpleasant to be splashed with mud, or that these beau cavaliers have not a right to ride over us, or that we have any claim for politeness sake, on them; but just ask them to quit riding so fast for their own sakes, as they are liable to be fined for it.

STATEMENTS DENIED.—The Golden Age, published at Lewiston, Salmon river, denies point-blank the statements made to the Appeal, and published in its columns of October 23d, that A. S. Gould, former editor of that paper, has been threatened by Secessionists for his Unionism, and had his office fired upon at night by them. The Age says Gould was well treated, that there is no secession sentiment to speak of in Lewiston, and that the citizens subscribed money to help him establish his paper. Mr. Gould insists, in a private letter, that his statements were substantially true.

A prominent citizen of Lewiston, informs us that Mr. Gould's statement is totally untrue.

Masonic Notice.—A Stated Communication of Willamette Lodge No. 2, F. & A. M., will be held this evening, at which the officers for the ensuing Masonic year will be [illegible]. A punctual attendance of the members is enjoined.

White's Fever and Ague Drops---For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed, in no instance has it failed to effect a speedy cure, in Ague especially, one bottle having been found sufficient in most cases and in none are more than two bottles required.

A number of testimonials could be given to verify these statements; but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in [illegible] out of ten.

Prepared only by ROBERT WHITE, Chemist and Druggist, Main street, Placerville, and Broadway, Upper Placerville. For sale by all respectable Druggists throughout the State.

White's Patent Lever Trusses.—These instruments are recommended to the public as the best ever invented. The principle is new and different from any other. The Pad works over a Knuckle, giving it a circular INWARD and UPWARD motion, thus being able to support the rupture with half the pressure required by other Trusses. The pain consequent upon heavy pressure is entirely avoided.

These instruments will not rust, and are the lightest, most durable, and most cleanly of all others. They can be washed at pleasure. Many persons have been cured by them of ruptures of several years standing.

Some kinds of this work is recommended above all others, and needs but an inspection to prove its superiority for cleanliness, durability and life-like appearance to any artificial teeth in use.

Filling and cleaning teeth, and all operations in Dental Surgery, either mechanical, operative or surgical, performed in the most thorough and highly finished manner. None but the most permanent and finished operations performed, and no inducements to patients by low priced or roughly finished operations. SEWING MACHINES

ARE UNEQUALLED BY ANY FOR BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION
—AND—
Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; should make a tight lock-stitch, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread or silk directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity; and should have a straight needle; curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer; should stitch, fell, run and gather; and should be always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread on both, above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel-feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screw-driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, nor ravel.

TREATIES

Tr[illegible] United States and Great Britain [illegible] by the President of the United States June 7, 1862.

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas a treaty between the United States of America and Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland was concluded and signed by their respective Plenipotentiaries at the City of Washington, on the seventh day of April last, which treaty is word for word as follows:

Treaty between the United States of America and Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the suppression of the African slave trade.

The United States of America and Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, being desirous to render more effectual the means hitherto adopted for the suppression of the slave trade carried on upon the coast of Africa, have deemed it expedient to conclude a treaty for that purpose, and have named as their Plenipotentiaries, that is to say:

The President of the United States of America, William H. Seward, Secretary of State;

And her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, the Right Honorable Richard Bickerton Pemell Lord Lyons, a peer of her United Kingdom, a knight grand cross of her most honorable order of the Bath, and her Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States of America;

Who, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed upon and concluded the following articles:

Article I. The two high contracting parties mutually consent that those ships of their respective navies which shall be provided with special instructions for that purpose, as hereinafter mentioned, may visit such merchant vessels of the two nations as may, upon reasonable grounds, be suspected of being engaged in the African slave trade, or of having been fitted out for that purpose; or of having, during the voyage on which they are met by the said cruisers, been engaged in the African slave trade, contrary to the provisions of this treaty; and that such cruisers may detain, and send or carry away, such vessels, in order that they may be brought to trial in the manner hereinafter agreed upon.

In order to fix the reciprocal right of search in such a manner as shall be adapted to the attainment of the object of this treaty, and at the same time avoid doubts, disputes, and complaints, the said right of search shall be understood in the manner and according to the rules following:

First. It shall never be exercised except by vessels of war, authorized expressly for that object, according to the stipulations of this treaty.

Secondly. The right of search shall in no case be exercised with respect to a vessel of the navy of either of the two Powers, but shall be exercised only as regards merchant vessels; and it shall not be exercised by a vessel of war of either contracting party within the limits of a settlement or port, nor within the territorial waters of the other party.

Thirdly. Whenever a merchant vessel is searched by a ship of war, the commander of the said ship shall, in the act of so doing, exhibit to the commander of the merchant vessel the special instructions by which he is duly authorized to search; and shall deliver to such commander a certificate, signed by himself, stating his rank in the naval service of his country, and the name of the vessel he commands, and also declaring that the only object of the search is to ascertain whether the vessel is employed in the African slave trade, or is fitted up for the said trade. When the search is made by an officer of the cruiser who is not the commander, such officer shall exhibit to the captain of the merchant vessel a copy of the before mentioned special instructions, signed by the commander of the cruiser; and he shall in like manner deliver a certificate signed by himself, stating his rank in the navy, the name of the commander by whose orders he proceeds to make the search, that of the cruiser in which he sails, and the object of the search, as above described. If it appears from the search that the papers of the vessel are in regular order, and that it is employed on lawful objects, the officer shall enter in the log book of the vessel that the search has been made in pursuance of the aforesaid special instructions; and the vessel shall be left at liberty to pursue its voyage. The rank of the officer who makes the search must not be less than that of lieutenant in the navy, unless the command, either by reason of death or other cause, is at the time held by an officer of inferior rank.

Fourthly. The reciprocal right of search and detention shall be exercised only within the distance of two hundred miles from the coast of Africa, and to the southward of the thirty-second parallel of north latitude, and within thirty leagues from the coast of the Island of Cuba.

Article II. In order to regulate the mode of carrying the provisions of the preceding article into execution, it is agreed—

First. That all the ships of the navies of the two nations which shall be hereafter employed to prevent the African slave trade shall be furnished by their respective Governments with a copy of the present treaty, of the instructions for cruisers annexed thereto, (marked A,) and of the regulations for the mixed courts of justice annexed thereto, (marked B,) which annexes respectively shall be considered as integral parts of the present treaty.

Secondly. That each of the high contracting parties shall, from time to time, communicate to the other the names of the several ships furnished with such instructions, the force of each, and the names of their several commanders. The said commanders shall hold the rank of captain in the navy, or at least that of lieutenant; it being nevertheless understood that the instructions originally issued to an officer holding the rank of lieutenant of the navy, or other superior rank, shall, in case of his death or temporary absence, be sufficient to authorize the officer on whom the command of the vessel has devolved to make the search, although such officer may not hold the aforesaid rank in the service.

Thirdly. That if at any time the commander of a cruiser of either of the two nations shall suspect that any merchant vessel under the escort or convoy of any ship or ships-of-war of the other nation carries negroes on board, or has been engaged in the African slave trade, or is fitted out for the purpose thereof, the commander of the cruiser shall communicate his suspicions to the commander of the convoy, who, accompanied by the commander of the cruiser, shall proceed to the search of the suspected vessel; and in case the suspicions appear well founded, according to the tenor of this treaty, then the said vessel shall be conducted or sent to one of the places where the mixed courts of justice are stationed, in order that it may there be adjudicated upon.

Fourthly. It is further mutually agreed that the commanders of the ships of the two navies, respectively, who shall be employed on this service, shall adhere strictly to the exact tenor of the aforesaid instructions.

Article III. As the two preceding articles are entirely reciprocal, the two high contracting parties engage mutually to make good any losses which their respective subjects or citizens may incur by an arbitrary and illegal detention of their vessels; it being understood that this indemnity shall be borne by the Government whose cruiser shall have been guilty of such arbitrary and illegal detention; and that the search and detention of vessels specified in the first article of this treaty shall be effected only by ships which may form part of the two navies, respectively, and by such of those ships only as are provided with the special instructions annexed to the present treaty, in pursuance of the provisions thereof. The indemnification for the damages of which this article treats shall be paid within the term of one year, reckoning from the day in which the mixed court of justice pronounces its sentence.

Article IV. In order to bring to adjudication with as little delay and inconvenience as possible, the vessels which may be detained according to the tenor of the first article of this treaty, there shall be established, as soon as may be practicable, three mixed courts of justice, formed by an equal number of individuals of the two nations, named for this purpose by their respective Governments. These courts shall reside, one at Sierra Leone, one at the Cape of Good Hope, and one at New York.

But each of the two high contracting parties reserves to itself the right of changing, at its pleasure, the place of residence of the court or courts held within its own territories.

These courts shall judge the causes submitted to them according to the provisions of the present treaty, and according to the regulations and instructions which are annexed to the present treaty, and which are considered an integral part thereof; and there shall be no appeal from their decision.

Article V. In case the commanding officer of any of the ships of the navies of either country, duly commissioned according to the provisions of the first article of this treaty, shall deviate in any respect from the stipulations of the said treaty, or from the instructions annexed to it, the Government which shall conceive itself to be wronged thereby shall be entitled to demand reparation; and in such case the Government to which such commanding officer may belong binds itself to cause inquiry to be made into the subject of the complaint, and to inflict upon the said officer a punishment proportioned to any wilful transgression which he may be proved to have committed.

Article VI. It is hereby further mutually agreed, that every American or British merchant vessel which shall be searched by virtue of the present treaty may lawfully be detained, and sent or brought before the mixed courts of justice established in pursuance of the provisions thereof, if, in her equipment, there shall be found any of the things hereinafter mentioned, namely:

First. Hatches with open gratings, instead of the close hatches, which are usual in merchant vessels.

Second. Divisions or bulk-heads in the hold or on deck in greater number than are necessary for vessels engaged in lawful trade.

Third. Spare plank fitted for laying down as a second or slave deck.

Fourth. Shackles, bolts or handcuffs.

Fifth. A larger quantity of water in casks or in tanks than is requisite for the consumption of the crew of the vessel as a merchant vessel.

Sixth. An extraordinary number of water casks, or of other vessels for holding liquid; unless the master shall produce a certificate from the custom house at the place from which he cleared outwards, stating that a sufficient security had been given by the owners of such vessel that such extra quantity of casks, or of other vessels should be used only to hold palm oil, or for other purposes of lawful commerce.

Seventh. A greater number of mess-tubs or kids than requisite for the use of the crew of the vessel as a merchant vessel.

Eight. A boiler, or other cooking apparatus, of an unusual size, and larger, or capable of being made larger, than requisite for the use of the crew of the vessel as a merchant vessel; or more than one boiler or other cooking apparatus, of the ordinary size.

Ninth. An extraordinary quantity of rice, of the flour of Brazil, of manioc or cassada, commonly called farinha, of maize, or of Indian corn, or of any other article of food whatever, beyond the probable wants of the crew; unless such rice, flour, farinha, maize, Indian corn or other article of food be entered on the manifest as part of the cargo for trade.

Tenth. A quantity of mats or matting greater than is necessary for the use of the crew of the vessel as a merchant vessel; unless such mats or matting be entered on the manifest as part of the cargo for trade.

If it be proved that any one or more of the articles above specified is or are on board, or have been on board during the voyage in which the vessel was captured, that fact shall be considered as prima facie evidence that the vessel was employed in the African slave trade, and she shall in consequence be condemned and declared lawful prize, unless the master or owners shall furnish clear and incontrovertible evidence, proving to the satisfaction of the mixed court of justice, that at the time of her detention or capture the vessel was employed in a lawful undertaking, and that the [illegible] articles [illegible] were indispensable for the lawful object of her voyage. [illegible]

Article VII. [illegible]

Article VIII. [illegible]

Article IX. [illegible] the vessel was sailing at the time of capture, and that the [illegible] persons, shall also be sent with them.

The same course shall be pursued with regard to ships of either contracting party which may be found by a cruiser of the other on board a vessel of any third Power, or on board a vessel sailing without flag or papers, which may be condemned by any competent court for having engaged in the African slave trade.

Article X. The negroes who are found on board of a vessel condemned by the mixed courts of justice, in conformity with the stipulations of this treaty, shall be placed at the disposal of the Government whose cruiser has made the capture; they shall be immediately set at liberty, and shall remain free, the Government to whom they have been delivered guaranteeing their liberty.

Article XI. The acts or instruments annexed to this treaty, and which it is mutually agreed shall form an integral part thereof, are as follows:

(A.) Instructions for the ships of the navies of both nations destined to prevent the African slave trade.

(B.) Regulations for the mixed courts of justice.

Article XII. The present treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications thereof shall be exchanged at London in six months from this date, or sooner if possible. It shall continue and remain in full force for the term of ten years from the day of exchange of the ratifications, and further, until the end of one year after either of the contracting parties shall have given notice to the other of its intention to terminate the same, each of the contracting parties reserving to itself the right of giving such notice to the other at the end of said term of ten years. And it is hereby agreed between them that, on the expiration of one year after such notice shall have been received by either from the other party, this treaty shall altogether cease and determine.

In witness whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the present treaty, and have thereunto affixed the seal of their arms.

Annex A to the Treaty between the United States of America and Great Britain, for the Suppression of the African Slave Trade, signed at Washington on the 7th day of April, 1862.

Instructions for the Ships of the United States and British Navies employed to prevent the African Slave Trade.

Article I. The commander of any ship belonging to the United States or British navy which shall be furnished with these instructions shall have a right to search and detain any United States or British merchant vessel which shall be actually engaged, or suspected to be engaged, in the African slave trade, or to be fitted out for the purposes thereof, or to have been engaged in such trade during the voyage in which she may be met with by such ship of the United States or British navy; and such commander shall thereupon bring or send such merchant vessel (save in the case provided for in article V of these instructions) as soon as possible, for judgment, before one of the three mixed courts of justice established in virtue of the IVth article of the said treaty, that is to say:

If the vessel shall be detained on the coast of Africa, she shall be brought before that one of the two mixed courts of justice to be established at the Cape of Good Hope and at Sierra Leone, which may be nearest to the place of detention, or which the captor, on his own responsibility, may think can be soonest reached from such place.

If the vessel shall be detained on the coast of the Island of Cuba, she shall be brought before the mixed court of justice at New York.

Article II. Whenever a ship of either of the two navies, duly authorized as aforesaid, shall meet a merchant vessel liable to be searched under the provisions of the said treaty, the search shall be conducted with the courtesy and consideration which ought to be observed between allied and friendly nations; and the search shall, in all cases, be made by an officer holding a rank not lower than that of a lieutenant in the navy, or by the officer who at the time shall be second in command of the ship by which such search is made.

Article III. The commander of any ship of the two navies, duly authorized as aforesaid, who may detain any merchant vessel in pursuance of the tenor of the present instructions, shall leave on board the vessel so detained, the master, the mate or boatswain, and two or three, at least, of the crew, the whole of the negroes, if any, and all the cargo. The captor shall, at the time of detention, draw up, in writing, a declaration, which shall exhibit the state in which he found the detained vessel; such declaration shall be signed by himself, and shall be given in or sent, together with the captured vessel, to the mixed court of justice before which such vessel shall be carried or sent for adjudication. He shall deliver to the master of the detained vessel a signed and certified list of the papers found on board the same, as well as a certificate of the number of negroes found on board at the moment of detention.

In the declaration which the captor is hereby required to make, as well as in the certified list of the papers seized, and in the certificate of the number of negroes found on board the detained vessel, he shall insert his own name and surname, the name of the capturing ship, and the latitude and longitude of the place where the detention shall have been made.

The officer in charge of the detained vessel shall, at the time of bringing the vessel's papers into the mixed court of justice, deliver into the court a certificate signed by himself, and verified on oath, stating any changes which may have taken place in respect to the vessel, her crew, the negroes, if any, and her cargo, between the period of her detention and the time of delivering in such paper.

Article IV. If urgent reasons, arising from the length of the voyage, the state of health of the negroes, or any other cause, should require that either the whole or a portion of such negroes should be disembarked before the vessel can arrive at the place at which one of the mixed courts of justice is established, the commander of the capturing ship may take upon himself the responsibility of so embarking the negroes, provided the necessity of the disembarkation and the cause thereof, be stated in a certificate in proper form. Such certificate shall be drawn up and entered at the time on the log book of the detained vessel.

Article V. In case any merchant vessel detained in pursuance of the present instructions, should prove to be unseaworthy, or in such a condition as not to be taken to one of the three ports where the mixed courts of justice are to be established in pursuance of the treaty of this date, the commander of the detaining cruiser may take upon himself the responsibility of abandoning or destroying her, provided the exact causes which made such a step imperatively necessary be stated in a certificate verified on oath. Such certificate shall be drawn up and formally executed in duplicate at the time.

In case of the abandonment or destruction of a detained vessel, the master and crew, together with the negroes and papers found on board, and one copy of the sworn certificate mentioned in the preceding paragraph of this article, shall be sent and delivered to the proper mixed court of justice at the earliest possible moment.

The undersigned plenipotentiaries have agreed, in conformity with the XIth article of the treaty signed by them on this day, that the present instructions shall be annexed to the said treaty, and be considered an integral part thereof.

Annex (B) to the Treaty between the United States of America and Great Britain for the Abolition of the African Slave Trade, signed at Washington on the 7th day of April, 1862.

Regulations for the Mixed Courts of Justice.

Article I. The mixed courts of justice to be established under the provisions of the treaty, of which these regulations are declared to be an integral part, shall be composed in the following manner:

The two high contracting parties shall each name a judge and an arbitrator, who shall be authorized to hear and to decide, without appeal, all cases of capture or detention of vessels which, in pursuance of the stipulations of the aforesaid treaty, shall be brought before them.

The judges and the arbitrators shall, before they enter upon the duties of their office, respectively make oath before the principal magistrate of the place in which such courts shall respectively reside, that they will judge fairly and faithfully, that they will have no preference either for claimant or for captor, and that they will act in all their decisions in pursuance of the stipulations of the aforesaid treaty.

There shall be attached to each of such courts a secretary or registrar, who shall be appointed by the party in whose territories such court shall reside.

Such secretary or registrar shall register all the acts of the court to which he is appointed; and shall, before he enters upon his office, make oath before the court, that he will conduct himself with due respect for its authority, and will act with fidelity and impartiality in all matters relating to his office.

The salaries of the judges and arbitrators shall be paid by the Governments by which they are appointed.

The salary of the secretary or registrar of the court to be established in the territories of the United States shall be paid by the United States Government; and that of the secretaries or registrars of the two courts to be established in the territories of Great Britain shall be paid by her Britannic Majesty.

Each of the two Governments shall defray half of the aggregate amount of the other expenses of such courts.

Article II. The expenses incurred by the officer charged with the reception, maintenance, and care of the detained vessel, negroes, and cargo, and with the execution of the sentence, and all disbursements occasioned by bringing a vessel to adjudication, shall, in case of condemnation, be defrayed from the funds arising out of the sale of the materials of the vessel after the vessel shall have been broken up, [illegible] VII of the treaty to which these regulations are annexed, and under article VII of these regulations.

Article III. [illegible]

[illegible] The proceedings of the court shall take place as summarily as possible, and for this purpose the courts are required to decide each case, as far as may be practicable, within the space of twenty days, to be dated from the day on which the detained vessel shall have been brought into the port where the deciding court shall reside.

The final sentence shall not in any case be delayed beyond the period of two months, [illegible] security that they will take upon themselves the expense and risks of the delay, [illegible] not exceeding four months.

Either party shall be allowed to employ such counsel as he may think fit to assist him in the conduct of his cause.

All the acts and essential parts of the proceedings of the said courts shall be in writing, and be placed upon record.

Article IV. The form of the process, or mode of proceeding to judgment, shall be as follows:

The judges appointed by the two Governments, respectively, shall in the first place proceed to examine the papers of the detained vessel, and shall take the depositions of the master or commander, and of two or three at least of the principal individuals on board of such vessel; and shall also take the declaration on oath of the captor, if it should appear to them to be necessary to do so, in order to judge and to pronounce whether the said vessel has been justly detained or not according to the stipulations of the aforesaid treaty, and in order that, according to such judgment, the vessel may be condemned or released. In the event of the two judges not agreeing as to the sentence which they ought to pronounce in any case brought before them, whether with respect to the legality of the detention, or the liability of the vessel to condemnation, or as to the amount of indemnification to be allowed, or as to any other question which may arise out of the said capture, or in case any difference of opinion should arise between them as to the mode of proceeding in the said court, they shall draw by lot the name of one of the two arbitrators so appointed as aforesaid, which arbitrator, after having considered the proceedings which have taken place, shall consult with the two judges on the case, and the final sentence or decision shall be pronounced conformably to the opinion of the majority of the three.

Article V. If the detained vessel shall be restored by the sentence of the court, the vessel and the cargo, in the state in which they shall then be found, (with the exception of the negroes found on board, if such negroes shall have been previously disembarked under the provisions of articles IV and V of the instructions annexed to the treaty of this date,) shall forthwith be given up to the master, or to the person who represents him; and such master or other person may, before the same court, claim a valuation of the damages which he may have a right to demand. The captor himself, and in his default his Government, shall remain responsible for the damages to which the master of such vessel, or the owners either of the vessel or of her cargo, may be pronounced to be entitled.

The two high contracting parties bind themselves to pay within the term of a year from the date of the sentence, the costs and damages which may be awarded by the court; it being mutually agreed that such costs and damages shall be paid by the Government of the country of which the captor shall be a subject.

Article VI. If the detained vessel shall be condemned, she shall be declared lawful prize, together with her cargo, of whatever description it may be, with the exception of the negroes who shall have been brought on board for the purpose of trade; and the said vessel, subject to the stipulations in the VIIIth article of the treaty of this date, shall, as well as her cargo, be sold by public sale for the profit of the two Governments, subject to the payment of the expenses hereinafter mentioned.

The negroes who may not previously have been disembarked shall receive from the court a certificate of emancipation, and shall be delivered over to the Government to whom the cruiser which made the capture belongs, in order to be forthwith set at liberty.

Article VII. The mixed courts of justice shall also take cognizance of and shall decide definitively and without appeal, all claims for compensation on account of losses occasioned to vessels and cargoes which shall have been detained under the provisions of this treaty, but which shall not have been condemned as legal prize by the said courts; and in all cases wherein restitution of such vessels and cargoes shall be decreed, save as mentioned in the VIIIth article of the treaty to which these regulations form an annex, and in a subsequent part of these regulations, the court shall award to the claimant or claimants, or to his or their lawful attorney or attorneys, for his or their use, a just and complete indemnification for all costs of suit, and for all losses and damages which the owner or owners may have actually sustained by such capture and detention; and it is agreed that the indemnification shall be as follows:

First. In case of total loss, the claimant or claimants shall be indemnified—

(A.) For the ship, her tackle, equipment and stores.

(B.) For all freights due and payable.

(C.) For the value of the cargo of merchandise, if any, deducting all charges, and expenses which would have been payable upon the sale of such cargo, including commission of sale.

(D.) For all other regular charges in such case of total loss.

Secondly. In all other cases (save as hereinafter mentioned) not of total loss, the claimant or claimants shall be indemnified—

(A.) For all special damages and expenses occasioned to the ship by the detention, and for loss of freight, when due or payable.

(B.) For demurrage when due, according to the schedule annexed to the present article.

(C.) For any deterioration of the cargo.

(D.) For all premium of insurance on additional risks.

The claimant or claimants shall be entitled to interest at the rate of 5 (five) per cent. per annum on the sum awarded, until such sum is paid by the Government to which the capturing ship belongs. The whole amount of such indemnifications shall be calculated in the money of the country to which the detained vessel belongs, and shall be liquidated at the exchange current at the time of the award.

The two high contracting parties, however, have agreed that if it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the judges of the two nations, and without having recourse to the decision of an arbitrator, that the captor has been led into error by the fault of the master or commander of the detained vessel, the detained vessel in that case shall not have the right of receiving, for the time of her detention, the demurrage stipulated by the present article, nor any other compensation for losses, damages, or expenses consequent upon such detention.

Schedule of demurrage or daily allowance for a vessel of—

100 tons to 120 tons inclusive	£5 per day
121 tons to 150 tons	6
151 tons to 170 tons	8
171 tons to 200 tons	10
201 tons to 220 tons	11
221 tons to 250 tons	12
251 tons to 270 tons	14
271 tons to 300 tons	15

And so on in proportion.

Article VIII. Neither the judges, nor the arbitrators, nor the secretaries or registrars of the mixed courts of justice, shall demand or receive from any of the parties concerned in the cases which shall be brought before such courts any emolument or gift, under any pretext whatever, for the performance of the duties which such judges, arbitrators, and secretaries or registrars have to perform.

Article IX. The two high contracting parties have agreed that, in the event of the death, sickness, absence on leave, or any other legal impediment of one or more of the judges or arbitrators composing the above mentioned courts respectively, the post of such judge or arbitrator shall be supplied, ad interim, in the following manner:

First. On the part of the United States, and in that court which shall sit within their territories: If the vacancy be that of the United States judge, his place shall be filled by the United States arbitrator; and, either in that case or in case the vacancy be originally that of the United States arbitrator, the place of such arbitrator shall be filled by the judge of the United States for the southern district of New York; and the said court, so constituted as above, shall sit, and in all cases brought before them for adjudication shall proceed to adjudge the same, and pass sentence accordingly.

Secondly. On the part of the United States of America, and in those courts which shall sit within the possessions of her Britannic Majesty: If the vacancy be that of the United States judge, his place shall be filled by the United States arbitrator; and, either in that case or in case the vacancy be originally that of the United States arbitrator, his place shall be filled by the United States Consul, or, in the unavoidable absence of the Consul, by the United States Vice Consul. In case the vacancy be both of the United States judge and of the United States arbitrator, then the vacancy of the judge shall be filled by the United States Consul, and that of the United States arbitrator by the United States Vice-Consul. But if there be no United States Consul or Vice-Consul to fill the place of the United States arbitrator, then the British arbitrator shall be called in in those cases in which the United States arbitrator would be called in; and in case the vacancy be both of the United States judge and of the United States arbitrator, and there be neither United States Consul nor Vice-Consul to fill, ad interim, the vacancies, then the British judge and the British arbitrator shall sit, and in all cases brought before them for adjudication shall proceed to adjudge the same and pass sentence accordingly.

Thirdly. On the part of her Britannic Majesty, and in those courts which shall sit within the possessions of her said Majesty: If the vacancy be that of the British judge, his place shall be filled by the British arbitrator; and, either in that case, or in case the vacancy be originally that of the British arbitrator, the place of such arbitrator shall be filled by the Governor or Lieutenant Governor resident in such possession; in his unavoidable absence, by the principal magistrate of the same, or in the unavoidable absence of the principal magistrate, by the secretary of the Government; and the said court, so constituted as above, shall sit and in all cases brought before it for adjudication, shall proceed to adjudge the same and to pass sentence accordingly.

Fourthly. On the part of Great Britain, and in that court which shall sit within the territories of the United States of America: If the vacancy be that of the British judge, his place shall be filled by the British arbitrator; and, either in that case or in case the vacancy be originally that of the British arbitrator, his place shall be filled by the British Consul; or in the unavoidable absence of the British Consul, by the British Vice Consul. And in case the vacancy be both of the British judge and the British arbitrator, then the vacancy of the British judge shall be filled by the British Consul, and that of the British arbitrator by the British Vice Consul. But if there be no British Consul or Vice-Consul to fill the place of British arbitrator, then the United States arbitrator shall be called in in those cases in which the British arbitrator would be called in; and in case the vacancy be both of the British judge and of the British arbitrator, and there be neither British Consul nor Vice-Consul to fill, ad interim, the vacancies, then the United States judge and arbitrator shall sit, and in all cases brought before them for adjudication shall proceed to adjudge the same and pass sentence accordingly.

The chief authority of the place in the territories [illegible] of the high contracting parties [illegible] to be supplied at the earliest possible period.
